New Chairman of the Senate Committees.

The chairmanship of the new Senate committees, as arranged by the Republican caucus committee, for approval by the caucus, are as follows: Finance, Morrill; Appropriation, Windom; Elections, Morton; Foreign Affairs, Cameron of Pennsylvania; Commerce, Conkling; Military, Spencer; Naval, Sargent; Judiciary, Edmunds; Postoffice, Hamlin; Public Lands, Oglesby; Private Land Claims, Thurman; Pension, Ingalls: Claims, Dawes; District of Columbia, Dorsey; Patent, Wadleigh; Territories, Christiancy; Railroads, Mitchell; Mines, Sharon; Education, Patterson; Rules, Ferry; Printing, Anthony; Library, Howe; Public Buildings and Grounds, McMillan.

SEWARD'S FIRST LEGISLATIVE SPEECH.—Night before last I said to myself: "Henry Seward, you are a fool to be afraid of your shadow. Show yourself a man. Bring up the salt business, and prove to those who misconstrue your diffidence into meanness that the one shall not seal your lips, and that the attribute don't belong to you." So I drew up my resolution, I made out a brief of what I would say in favor of it, "screwed my courage to the sticking point," consulted Tracy and Maynard. They approved, and I went to the House, took my seat, paper in hand. By the time that I could properly offer the resolution I grew faint-hearted, thought I would postpone it till Monday—let the opportunity almost pass by—thought once more of it, and with a motion of uncommon energy, I found myself on my feet—"Mr. President," said I, and thick darkness was before me, "I offer the following resolution." Imagine my consternation while I heard the President announce in the usual form, "The Senator from the seventh district offers the following resolution." It was read while I was endeavoring to recall one word of what I meant to say. To make my embarrassment ten fold greater, I discovered the regency men took alarm.—Two or three were on their feet at once, and moved that the resolution be laid on the table. I felt relieved, because I was released from speaking upon it for one day. I sat down after consenting to the postponement. In the evening regency men came to know what I meant. The newspapers reported the offering of the resolution, and I was hailed by the anti-regency men as a hero for my bold determination to bring to light the peculations on the treasury.—From His Autobiography.

THE bonded debt of the city of New York is $149,357,557 79. The city tax in 1876 was $2 80 on the $100, and the expenditures exceeded the receipts from taxes nearly four million dollars. That's a pretty good showing for a party claiming the administration of the Federal Government on a plea of retrenchment and reform.

'. MICHAEL'S Church, Moscow,

DANIEL WEBSTER AND THE OX TEAM.

The following story of Daniel Webster, it is believed, has never before appeared in print. The writer had it second hand, from the venerable Gov. Nesmith, of New Hampshire, who, it is well known, was one of the most intimate of Webster's friends. How the great statesman, while on a visit to his farm in Franklin, N. H. used occasionally to disport himself by calling together a few of his favorite friends, and, equipped with gun and line, taking a trip of a day or two among the wilds of the Granite State, is all a matter of history. On one of these occasions, as the sporting party's carriage was approaching a considerable hill, it appeared in the distance that an ox team was stuck in the road way at the foot of the hill. the driver, a genuine farmer of the vicinage, was doing his best with whip and lungs, to urge the two yoke of oxen, but though they seemed to pull all they could, the wheels made not an inch of progress. The farmer plied his goad, and roared out all the usual bucolic lingo—"Ha, Golden! ha broad! Gee Bright! Star-S-t-a-r!"—but it was of no use; the wheels were set. The nearer the Websterian carriage approached the more the farmer tried to show himself master of the situation. The good oxen kept pulling, but the wheels did not go round. At length the carriage arrived near at hand and stopped, and the party for a minute or two watched the proceedings. Presently, without saying a word, Webster dismounted from the carriage, and in his most stately manner walked forward and exclaimed with commanding voice: "Give me that whip!" The farmer surrendered it unconditionally and retired to a safe distance. Immediately the expounder began to flourish high the whip over the heads of the bovine four, and to address them in tones of authority not to be mistaken. The oxen at once dropped their horns, doubled up their backs, and stretched their tails, and straightway twitched the cart out of the rut holes and triumphantly pulled up the hill amid exultant cheers of the spectator party in the carriage, and to the utter amazement of the farmer, who, it is said, looked as if Omnipotence himself had descended upon the earth to take possession of his ox team.

At the same time with the above, Gov. Nesmith told my informant other capital things characteristic of the "Farmer Statesman," and in the course of his narative remarked that he had heard Webster many times in the Senate, in the forum and on the rostrum, but that he had heard his most eloquent as well as most profound utterances at times when off in the woods or upon the hills, in the presence of a favored few who accompanied him in these rusticating jaunts. The scenery, the quietude and even the very loneliness of the place, appeared to inspire him with unwonted sentiment and power, and he would unexpectedly break forth now in discourse upon the beauties and wonders of the natural world, and again upon some public topic upon which he had amassed thought, but to pour it out, perhaps for the first time in the wilderness.

WASHINGTON'S PUDDING AND MILK DINNER IN RHODE ISLAND.—A correspondent of the Boston Transcript tells the following story, which he says was told him by an old lady twenty-five years ago:

Her father kept a tavern in Rhode Island during the revolution. He received word that Gen. Washington and his staff would arrive on a certain day and call for dinner. Great preparations were made, and when the distinguished guests entered the dining room their eyes fell upon a dainty feast. The members of the family stood behind the chairs, dressed in their best clothes, to wait upon the officers. Great was their surprise when Washington quietly turned to the hostess and asked: "Have you plenty of milk in the house? If you can, I wish you would give me a bowl of hasty pudding and milk." The frugal fare was furnished and he would eat nothing else. After dinner one of the family said to him, "Your work is so hard, we should suppose you would need something more hearty than hasty pudding and milk." Placing his hand on his head, he replied: "Here is my work."

ELEVEN of the ringleaders of the late rebellion in Japan have been beheaded, while two hundred and forty-one persons have been sentenced to hard labor for life. Four men of high birth, wishing to escape the indignity of decapitation, made their way out of prison and committed the "happy dispatch," after passing a whole day in feasting, singing and dancing. There has since been another outbreak, but of a comparatively trivial character; and having nothing to do with the nobility. Two thousand farmers assassinated an obnoxious tax collector, and were about to besiege the [illegible] of Prov-

TERRIBLE PANIC.

On Thursday night a panic occurred in the St Francis Xavier Church, New York, by which a number of women and children were either killed outright or seriously wounded It being the women's week the audience was composed entirely of women and children. Father Langcake was preaching about 'Hell and the Horrors of the Damned,' and as he was picturing the torments incident thereto a young woman in the gallery fainted and shrieked hysterically, which startled the audience who all arose to their feet One woman cried 'fire' and this caused the panic. The priests tried to quiet them, and dismissed those in the body of the church, who passed out quietly The people in that portion of the gallery where the alarm occurred made a rush for the stairway, causing all to join in the scramble The stairway was but four feet wide and near the bottom made an abrupt turn Down this the frantic women rushed. An aged woman fell and in an instant the way was blocked with a mass of struggling, shrieking humanity. Those behind rushed upon them and added horror to horror They screamed and fought like madmen and every effort to quiet them was futile The priests did all they could to relieve them and with the patrolmen dragged women by main force from the heap Finally the panic was subdued, but not until seven women and one child were trampled to death and a score or more seriously injured

General Dix, resigning the chairmanship of the Union Veterans National Committee, has written a letter, in which he says 'To the Administration of President Hayes we look for thorough reformations of the abuses into which the Government has fallen, firm resistance to encroachment of those whose province it is, under the Constitution, to advise and consent to appointments to public trust upon the prerogative of nomination, which the same instrument has confided exclusively to him, and for imposing restraint upon the unseemly pursuit of office and perversion of official patronage to personal and party purposes, and also for a just and impartial policy in regard to all sections and classes—a policy which shall heal the wounds left by the past dissensions and elevate his Administration above the plane of party or politics"

Conkling Urged to do His Duty —A New York Herald editorial says the country demands that the policy of Hayes be sustained Its adoption may save, but its rejection will destroy the Republican party Now is the time for the most skillful pilot to take the helm The country will rally around Hayes as it rallied around Lincoln in 1861 The issue then was national life, the issue now is national regeneration The pride of New York in its great Senator would be gratified beyond expression at seeing him take the helm which properly belongs to him in this emergency Whether the Republican party is disrupted or redeemed, there can be no hazard to him if he boldly asserts his claim to the leadership in this important crisis

Great Salaries —The New York Legislature has been investigating the salaries paid by the Life and other insurance companies of that State It is found that the Presidents of several of the Companies receive salaries of five, ten, fifteen twenty and twenty-five thousand dollars each per year A few of the largest insurance companies have refused to divulge what they pay their officers.

Terrible Snow Storm —The snow storm which originated in Colorado has reached Chicago, and is widespread St Louis reports that it is the heaviest of the season, and there is considerable delay on account of it on the railroads The wires, which have been very unreliably for two weeks past, are still down

George Bancroft, the historian, was present in the House of Representatives during the whole contest in relation to the count of the electoral vote.

A TALKING TELEGRAPH.

The newly invented "telephone," or sound telegraph, may not revolutionize the present system of electric communication, but it has already awakened a deep interest among scientific minds We recently published an account of some experiments made by Prof. Bell with the telephone in Boston Tunes were played on an organ and a cornet, and the sounds transmitted to Salem, a distance of thirty miles over an electric wire, and a Salem audience heard the music very distinctly At a recent lecture in Chicago, by Prof Gray, on the capabilities of the telephone, music was played in Milwaukee, a hundred miles away, and the music was instantly transmitted over the wires and reproduced in the hall at Chicago, very clear and distinct

These experiments are quite wonderful, and when the human voice can be heard and transmitted over vast distances on the electric wires it will be still more remarkable And this we think will be accomplished in a short time In the first working of any great invention (like the telegraph itself,) it was far from being perfect Various improvements and modifications in all inventions have made themselves valuable Their practical value to man and civilization has been by successive improvements—rarely by original discovery. Old Dr Franklin first taught us electricity by a kite, Morse gave us the present system of telegraphy, and now some rare genius is learning us how to hold an electric conversation with people in Europe in Asia or in the furthermost verge of the globe

THE PRESIDENT AND THE SENATE.

There is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth among the U S Senators, and the war between the President and the Senators has already commenced Some of the appointees for the Cabinet do not meet with their approval, and a bitter opposition is to be made against their confirmation Evarts and Schurz are the most violently opposed We are glad to see that the President stands firm, and announces that he shall adhere to the nominations, and the Senate can pursue its own course in the matter The issue then is directly made, and the people will heartily support the President They agree with him in demanding civil service reform, the pacification of the South, and all the other measures calculated to secure good government to all sections of our broad domain Hence we are willing to allow him the constitutional right of selecting his own advisers, believing that he thinks the plan and policy he has defined will be the most likely to secure the ends sought to be attained The new President is entitled to a fair trial When it shall be discovered that the country is to be "Tylerized" or Johnsonized the moral support of the people will be suddenly transferred from the President to the Senate But until such time arrives any attempt to prevent President Hayes from honestly endeavoring to carry out his views (with which the people are in harmony) will be severely condemned

Prospects of Cabinet Nominees —A Washington dispatch thus speaks of the probabilities of the Cabinet nominees being confirmed In the executive session today, Morton and Sargent who were the strongest opponents of the Electoral Commission bill, and who have been generally regarded as the strictest Republicans in the Senate made strong speeches in favor of the confirmation of all the gentlemen nominated by the President In doing so they both urged that the President, like a general, had beyond all question the right to appoint his own staff Conkling expressed himself in opposition, and spoke mildly and indirectly against the confirmation of Sherman It is generally believed that all the nominations will be confirmed except Schurz He will be bitterly opposed by a number of prominent Senators, and possibly he will be returned.

The only mills on the Carson river running at the present time are the Santiago and Brunswick, which are being supplied with ore from the Consolidated Virginia and California mines There is a good stage of water in the Carson river at the present time, but there is no immediate danger of the river overflowing its banks

The political campaign of 1877 commences in New Hampshire, which State will elect a Governor and three members of Congress on the 13th inst.

THE COMSTOCK.

The Con. Virginia and California Opened to the Public

The Virginia Chronicle of Friday has the following concerning the Comstock

Yesterday a party of well-known San Francisco operators and some local experts visited the bonanza mines The visitors included one of the largest shareholders in the Con. Virginia and California mines; Robert N Graves, for many years Superintendent of the Empire mine at Gold Hill, and one of the heavy stockholders, Dan Cook, who lived here long enough to learn the difference between garden hose and $500 rock, Joe Goodman, A Maitland, N G Gillette and others, including a Chronicle reporter.

Under the guidance of Hugh Lamb the experienced foreman of the mines, the party descended the C and C. shaft to the 1650-foot level, passed through the west drift to its face, then through the connecting drift running northwest to the California winze, up which they were hoisted to the level above, and thence they were able to foot it all through the new mine.

WHAT IS IN THE LOWER DRIFT?

The main point of interest in the big mines just now is the west drift on the 1650 foot level, that being the lowest drift. It starts from the C and C shaft almost on the dividing line between the two mines and runs almost due west, the slight divergence being southward Along the drift for a distance of over 600 feet there is nothing worthy of mention, save the fact that it runs so nearly on a dead level that the water does not run off to the shaft, but lies on the car track This item will interest the San Francisco bears, who were proclaiming quite recently that the drift had an ascending grade of five feet to every 100 feet The Grade is exactly one inch to every 100 feet At a point nearly 700 feet west from the shaft the east clay seam is reached It has an easterly pitch of about 40 degrees This was marked by the experts as a very important fact, as the west wall of the ore body 100 feet above sinks almost vertically, and the inference is that the ledge will be found to widen as further depth is attained

Right back of the east clay the drift cuts into good ore which continues for 27 feet in thickness, and then the little porphyry horse is encountered This is less than twenty feet in thickness and after passing through it there is an unbroken stretch of fine ore for a distance of over seventy feet, or a little beyond the point of intersection with the north and south drift from the California winze This point of intersection is 27 feet south of the California line, almost directly under crosscut No 1, on the 1550 The ore in this portion of the drift is rated at $300 per ton, but the most cheering feature is the width and strength of the ore body This is the narrowest point of the ledge, as shown by the crosscuts above On the 1500 foot level it was only about 90 feet wide at this point, on the 1550 it was 110 feet and here, a hundred feet lower down, it proves to be 102 feet at least They are now preparing to run a drift southwesterly to the deep winze from the 1500 level of the Con. Virginia, which will require about two months to complete This drift will break through $300 ore at the starting point, and great expectations are indulged as to its probable developments The general opinion of all who were in the mine yesterday was that more riches would be realized from the ore above the 1650 foot level than all of the upper levels combined had furnished

President Grant's proposed tour in Europe, if it is carried out, will no doubt confer upon him a noteworthy distinction We do not now recall an ex President of the United States who has traveled in Europe after the expiration of his official term The President will, therefore be treated with the respect due the former head of a great nation, and will have besides the attention which comes from novelty and curiosity His military fame in itself will be a never ending cause of admiration In respect to his private fortunes, which are understood to be considerable, he can have no anxiety Any time that he chooses to add $100,000 or $150,000 to his resources he can write, or cause to be written, a volume of memoirs, as General Sherman has done, the pecuniary returns from which would be much larger than were realized by General Sherman.

In the Bonanza —We noticed on the streets yesterday several of the leading stock men of San Francisco and particularly the following J T Goodman, George D. Roberts, R N Graves, Dan Cook, Archie Borland, A Maitland, M C Hillyer, Mr Gillett, D L McDonald, Jr Most of these gentlemen yesterday, in company with W. H Smith of the Belcher, D E McCarthy of the Chronicle and others, visited the Consolidated Virginia and the California mines and took a ramble through the big bonanza They all expressed themselves as delighted with what they saw, and their verdict will fully sustain the favorable reports made of the lower levels of this great ore deposit —Enterprise of the 9th.

There is a rumor that Mr Tilden is about to take a trip to Europe Mr. Tilden himself says that it is thirty-one years since he has taken any rest.

AYRSHIRE COWS.

The report of the Ayrshire Agricultural Association gives the following points as the standard of superiority in Ayrshire dairy cows.

Head short, forehead wide, nose fine between the muzzle and eyes, muzzle moderately large, eyes full and lively, horns wide set on, inclining upward and curving slightly inward

Neck long and straight from the head to the top of the shoulder, free from loose skin on the under side, fine at its junction with the head, and the muscles symmetrically enlarging toward the shoulders.

Shoulders thin at the top, brisket light, the whole forequarters thin in front, and gradually increasing in depth and width backward.

Back short and straight, spine well defined, especially at the shoulder, the short ribs arched, the body deep at the flanks and the milk veins well developed.

Pelvis long, broad and straight, hock bones (ilium) wide apart, and not much overlaid with fat, thighs deep and broad, tail long and slender, and set on level with the back.

Great value is attached to the above form and points by the dairy farmer, and he quickly takes them in when effecting a purchase, so that a mistake is rarely made.

The Cabinet Nominations Referred —The Executive session of the Senate on Friday lasted about twenty minutes The Cabinet nominations were referred to committees as follows That of General Schurz to the Committee on Finance, Devens to the Judiciary Committee, McCreery to the Committee on Military affairs, Thompson to the Naval Affairs Committee, and Key to Committee on Postoffices and Postroads

Prince William, of Prussia, has received the highest honor which it is in the power of Queen Victoria to confer on a foreign prince, the order of the Garter, an honor, too, which is sometimes coveted in vain by reigning sovereigns. Louis Philippe and Louis Napoleon were both exceedingly glad to receive it, as it was a token that they had been received into the brotherhood of monarchs on equal terms

A committee in the British Parliament has submitted a report on meteorological observations, in which it suggests the adoption of the American system. It sets forth the perfection of our Weather Bureau, and admits that we are ahead of all the rest of the world in the accuracy of our forecasts.

Commercial Exchange.

The old Capital corner is undergoing repairs and the new management, Messrs. Bradley & Gregory, will start in with a clean broom. In the corner proper will be a saloon, cigar stand and lunch stand. Back of this Mr. Cookes will put up a two story for the use of himself. He has re christened the corner "Commercial Exchange," having first named it that in '69, but for several years it has been known by the name of the "Capital."

Collision.

The V. & T. R. R. passenger train that left here yesterday morning three hours behind time, was again delayed an hour at Steamboat. The train was running into the station at a lively rate of speed and before the engineer could stop her he ran into the down freight train, which was side-tracking at the time. The passenger engine was damaged a little, and four cars lightly injured. The engine will have to go to the machine shop for a couple of weeks.

District Court.

The following is the business transacted in the District Court yesterday, Judge Wright presiding:

In the case of J. E. Jones & Co. vs. P. W. L. & F. Co. motion for new trial was denied, and a stay of proceedings granted for five days.

In case of Mrs. J. Gregory vs. Spence Gregory a divorce was granted

Mrs. A. E Simpson was appointed administratrix of the estate of J. E. Simpson, deceased, with bonds fixed at $14,000. J. H. Kinkead, W. Peninger and Wm. Duck were named as appraisers.

Monday, April 23, was the time set for hearing the report of special administrator in the matter of the estates of J. J. Woodward and Isabel Woodward.

Messrs. E. C. Sessions, Geo. Alt and Rufus King were appointed by the Court as appraisers of the property of Mr. and Mrs. Woodward, deceased.

The appeal to the District Court from the Justice's Court in the case of Wm. Thompson vs. S. F. Hoole was sustained, and the case set for hearing at the April term.

The case of M. Frolsche vs. E. F. Reed was dismissed.

The case of H. Vilegran vs. Boverio was continued for the term.

The case of H. H. Beck & Co. vs. A. Reger was then considered, and the Court adjourned for the term.

The next term of the District Court begins Monday, April 23.

Something Good.

Grey, of Grey & Isaacs, returned from below yesterday, and their spring goods kept him company; some of them, for it will be impossible to put in the store the entire stock. The firm now propose to make a last and renewed proof of their disinterestedness by sacrificing their large and valuable stock of goods, staple and fancy, to the requirements of the community. During the next thirty days such prices will rule at their establishment at as have never before been known in Reno. Their first desire is to dispose of their stock, prices being an inferior consideration. Some of the bargains they intend to give will be found in another column tomorrow. They mean business and will convince every caller of the fact.

Behind Time.

The Overland passenger and lightning express were late getting here yesterday, arriving between nine and ten o'clock, the Overland coming in first. This detention was owing to the fact that a freight train was ditched Thursday afternoon a little ways this side of Alta. Cause—broken wheel. Five or six cars were mashed to pieces, and the railroad track was badly torn in places.

Resigned.

At a meeting of the vestry of St. John's Episcopal Church, Gold Hill, held last Monday, Right Rev. Bishop O. W. Whitaker tendered his resignation as Rector of the parish. With deep regret the members of the Vestry accepted the resignation of the Bishop, and then extended a cordial invitation or call to Rev. R. S. Eastman to fill the position.

Occident and Bodine.

Our Reno boys must have lost a few dollars on the race in Sacramento yesterday, and the chances are that Marshal, Alexander, Hymers and Chamberlain, will "count ties" coming home. Occident was their favorite, but Bodine, the eastern flyer, won the race in three straight heats. Time 2:24, 2:23, 2:25. Rather slow.

F. & A. M.

A called communication of Reno Lodge No. 13, F. & A. M., will be held to-night, for work in the third degree. All members and sojourning brethren in good standing are requested to attend. By order of the Master.

Personal.

E. J. Parkinson, son of the "old man," was with us yesterday. He says the climate agrees with him. We more than believe that he is after a pair of Reno's large boots. Glad to see the young man here.

Police Court.

There was no business in the Police Court yesterday. Since the 601 organized the town has been cleared of criminals and as a consequence the officers are complaining of the dullness of their business.

A SHEEP ranch of 640,000 acres has just been surveyed in Menard county, Texas, for a Tennessee breeder.

$999 Can't be made by every agent every month in the business we furnish, but those willing to work can easily earn a dozen dollars a day right in their own localities. Have no room to explain here. Business pleasant and honorable. Women and boys and girls do as well as men. We will furnish you a complete outfit free. The business pays better than anything else. We will bear expense of starting you. Particulars free. Write and see. "ONE GOOD TURN DESERVES ANOTHER."—The above adage is most applicable to Messrs. Grey & Isaacs, dry goods merchants, Virginia street. Seeing since they have come amongst us, ladies have discovered to their joy that the prices in dry goods have fallen to one-half their original price, and still they tumble, as Grey & Isaacs are determined to still continue to lead the dry goods trade of Reno, and with that aim in view they have marked down their entire stock to enable them to clear out all their Winter goods, so now is your opportunity ladies to buy dry goods at your own price, at the same time showing your appreciation for their past acts. *

BRASS AND STRING MUSIC

WILL BE FURNISHED FOR

BALLS, PARTIES AND CELEBRATIONS

By JOHN [illegible],

[illegible] Humboldt Saloon, Virginia [illegible], Reno.

New York is agitated over the question of the disposition of the city garbage and refuse. It was thought that once the difficulty was partially solved by a regulation that citizens should put their coal ashes in different receptacles from the other garbage. Then the ashes were used for filling up flats about the city, and the other garbage used for manure. This regulation has been suffered to fall into disuse. It has been proposed to fill up a shallow channel between Ward's and Randall's Islands, but while this proposition has met with general support in the city, a general opposition was manifested by those in the neighborhood of the proposed fill, who thought that the place would be made a malarial hot-bed if the project were carried out.

Three hundred dollars in gold coin in the jailer's pants pocket the other day, at Virginia City, when Harrington attacked him, saved his life. A bullet from Harrington's pistol went bulldosing among those solid gold pieces, instead of into the jailer's groin, and did no harm. Moral—Always carry $300 in gold in your pocket; silver will do, if you haven't gold.

From 1850 to 1870 the value of church property in the United States has increased from $87,328,500 to $351,482,580. Of the 72,459 churches 68,332 are Protestant churches. The membership of these churches is about 7,000,000, while the number of adults and children they directly reach and benefit is three times this number.

This personal mention of a San Francisco millionaire is from the Shasta, Cal., Courier: Jim Keene "bulldosed" Wall street the other day to the tune of $150,000. Years ago he tried the job of running the Shasta Herald, and bursted up and left here minus $20. Such is life.
